

Ford eyes debate with Carter

Convention okays Ford-Dole ticket

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Republicans' Middle America ticket of Gerald R. Ford and Robert Dole leaves this city with promises of support from the once-divided GOP convention for its underdog team and primed for debate with Democrat Jimmy Carter.

Ford took the initiative Thursday night when he launched his campaign against Carter with a challenge to "debate the real issues face to face." Before the Republican convention adjourned, Carter accepted.

From his home in Plains, Ga., Carter called on Ford to join him in a debate or series of debates that would provide "the fullest and most detailed examination of the programs offered by both sides."

The debate challenge wasn't in the advance text of Ford's speech accepting the presidential nomination. "I am ready and eager," he told the delegates "to go before the American people and debate the real issues, face to face with Jimmy Carter. The people have a right to know where we both stand."

The delegates roared their approval in what was probably the most emotional and most spontaneous response Ford received during the convention.

But the final emotional moment belonged to the man Ford defeated. After his acceptance speech, Ford called Ronald Reagan and his wife, Nancy, to the podium.

It was gesture of unity often seen in the closing moments of national political conventions. The victor and the vanquished stand together to demonstrate to their followers that the contest is over and it is time to unite against the common enemy.

But when Reagan began to speak, the hall grew silent. He recalled the cheers that had greeted his arrival in the hall hours earlier. "They give us a memory that will live in our hearts forever," he said.

Among the delegates who had given Reagan 1,070 votes, 60 short of the majority he sought for the presidential nomination, many wept.

The former California governor referred to the "erosion of freedom that has taken place under Democratic rule."

He told the delegates that although they belonged to a minority party, their actions could significantly affect the course of American history.

"We must go forward from here united, determined," Reagan said.

Then he embraced Betty Ford, and greeted others on the podium. Minutes later, the convention ended.

After his defeat Wednesday night, Reagan pledged to campaign for Ford. And Ford acknowledged the pledge in his acceptance speech when he said that "after the scimmages of the past few months, it really feels good to have Ron Reagan on the same side of the line."

But only the campaign itself will demonstrate whether the show of unity that ended the Republican convention or the one that ended the Democratic convention a month earlier will hold up, whether wounds will heal, whether supporters of the losers will work with enthusiasm for the victors.

In an Associated Press survey of Reagan supporters at the convention, 80 per cent of the more than 600 who responded said they would work for the Ford-Dole ticket. But more than one-third of those who said they'd work also indicated most of their effort will go to the campaigns of other Republican candidates.

The survey turned up almost no support for a third-party effort among the backers of the conservative Californian.

And the Reagan delegates joined with Ford backers to interrupt the President with applause 63 times during his acceptance speech Thursday night.

"I have been called an unelected president, an accidental president," Ford said.

"Having become vice president and president, without expecting or seeking either," he added, "I have a special feeling toward these high offices."

"To me, the presidency and the vice presidency were not prizes to be won, but a duty to be done."

"So tonight, it is not the power and glamour of the presidency that leads me to ask for another four years. It is something every hard-working American will understand — the challenge of a job well begun, but far from finished."

He appealed for unity and support from the convention and for a mandate from the nation that watched and listened.

His speech contained the expected attacks on the Democratic Congress and inevitable contrasts to the policies of his predecessor in the White House, Richard M. Nixon.

It also included acknowledgement of his underdog position and another of his frequent tributes to Harry S. Truman, who won a come-from-behind victory in 1948 against Thomas E. Dewey and what Truman branded the "do-nothing 80th Congress."

In tones reminiscent of Truman's campaign, Ford attacked the "vote-hungry, free-spending Congressional majority."

He said the Democratic platform "talks about tax reform, but there's one big problem — their own Congress won't act."

In similar references to Democratic platform positions on school busing and crime, Ford concluded with the same refrain: "Their own Congress won't act."

"My friends, Washington is not the problem — their Congress is the problem," he said.

The President never mentioned Nixon by name, but Ford recalled how he came to the presidency:

"It was an hour of our history that troubled our minds and tore at our

Representing the village during discussions which followed the presentation were David Stitt, center, project engineer; Robert Hughes, president of the board of public affairs; and Mrs. Judy Ward, village clerk.

Village gets $41,000 check

By GEORGE MALEK

BLOOMINGBURG — Representatives of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency visited Bloomingburg Thursday. They and the $41,000 check they brought to village clerk Judy Ward were warmly greeted by a small but receptive gathering in town hall.

The $42,000 grant awarded to the village by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency was based on an application submitted in 1973 for improvement of the village water supply system.

Most of the work to be financed by the grant has already been completed, and the village had previously borrowed money from the Farmers Home Administration to pay for it.

Essentially what has happened is that the village has received money from two sources for the same work.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency grant may allow additional work on the water system or early payment of the Farmers Home Administration loan.

The village applied for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency grant in 1973 after being notified by the state that it had been authorized to distribute $2.5 million in federal monies. Some $1.6 million was to be used for water supply improvements.

After this was announced statewide, however, the Environmental Protection Agency was flooded with requests for more than $100 million in grant money.

Bloomingburg requested assistance on an $88,000 water project. Charles J. Wilhelm and William Reese, who represented the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency Thursday, explained that each applicant was given a project priority number.

In the "final" distribution of money,

Bloomingburg fell just below the cutoff line and received no money.

Therefore, the village sought to borrow the money from the Farmers Home Administration. It was awarded a loan for the water project in December.

Early in 1976, it became apparent that some of the cities chosen for the Environmental Protection Agency grants would be unable to initiate the projects for which the money had been awarded. Wilhelm said nearly $850,000 of appropriated money was not claimed by these recipients.

The Environmental Protection Agency therefore, reviewed those projects which failed to receive funding in the earlier distribution. Approximately 10 projects which had been rejected earlier were then approved for grants, including Bloomingburg.

Expanding of the village's water filtering system and the drilling of a second well at the water treatment facility was well underway by the time the Environmental Protection Agency announced that Bloomingburg would receive the grant.

It will now pay almost half of the work for which the Farmers Home Administration monies had been borrowed.

David Stitt, consulting engineer for M.M. Shurtzinger and Associates of Chillicothe, project engineers, said some proposed improvements in the water plant had been trimmed from the project because of the limited funds available.

The water plant improvement project is currently scheduled for completion by the end of 1976.

Village council will now have to determine whether it wants to reinstate some of these improvements or use the money to repay part of the Farmers Home Administration loan.

Attending the meeting on behalf of the village were Mrs. Ward, Stitt, council member Charles Hunt and Robert Hughes, president of the board of public affairs.

Amateurs kill off girlie shows

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Time was when a farmer looking for the bare facts would slip away from mama and sneak into a girlie show at the Iowa State Fair. No more.

"You can see more on the midway than you could in the tent," says Al Kunz, owner of Century 21 Shows, operator of the shows and rides on the midway.

He canceled the girlie show this year.

"Des Moines has always been known as one of the best girlie show spots in the country," Kunz said Thursday. "They'd tell mother to go watch them on peaches, put the kids on the rides and they'd sneak into the girlie shows."

"Last year I brought in the Best of Burlesque — a heck of a show with fine looking chorus girls — but people didn't support it."

For generations the gyrating dancers performed at the 123-year-old fair which opened its 14-day run Wednesday at the fairgrounds on the east side Des Moines. Forty thousand people attended, a figure that will soar to 75,000 to 100,000 on weekends.

"But the younger generation that used to support the girlie shows in a very good manner withdrew," Kunz said. "It's a permissive society. Girls started wearing tight hot pants, X-rated movies started, and you can see almost anything on television now."

MT students to appear at state fair

Two named to All-Ohio Youth Choir

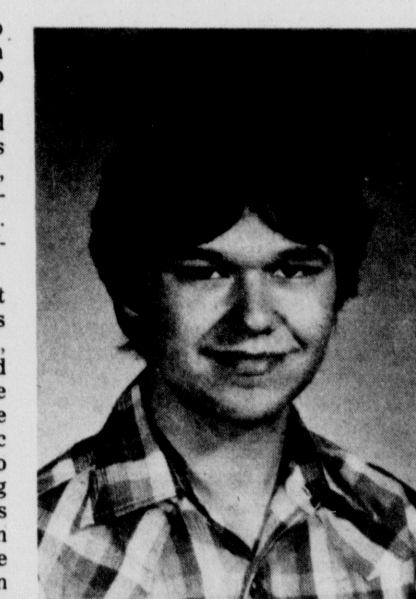

Two students were selected to represent Miami Trace High School in the All-Ohio Youth Choir at the Ohio State Fair this summer.

They are Cathy Edwards, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards of 1067 Spring Lake Drive, and Harold L. (Bud) Mountcastle, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Mountcastle, Ohio 41-N, near Jeffersonville.

Miss Edwards, who will be a senior at Miami Trace High School this fall, is active in the Miami Trace Folksingers, symphonic choir, the Cyndakated Singers, and has been a member of the casts of the last three Miami Trace musicals, "South Pacific," the "Music Man," and "No No Nanette." She also received an honorable mention rating for her performance in last year's Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club teen talent show. She has taken private voice lessons from Mrs. Cinda Stinson for several years.

Mountcastle, a 1976 graduate of Miami Trace High School, was offered a scholarship at the Ohio State University school of music, where he will attend in the fall.

He was a senior member of the Miami Trace Folksingers, a member of the Cyndakated Singers, a member of the symphonic choir, and was also the accompanist for freshman and concert choirs. He was a member of "The Reflections" singing group at the Grace United Methodist Church where he attends. He was a cast member in several Miami Trace musicals and held the lead role in both the "Music Man" and "South Pacific." He was the winner of last year's Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club teen talent show. He also was a private voice student of Mrs. Stinson's for three years.

Miss Edwards and Mountcastle were selected for the All-Ohio Youth Choir from over 3,000 applicants. They will have an opportunity to sing with the choir in many European countries next summer as Ohio's "singing ambassadors."

Two Washington Senior High School students, Robin Brakeall and John W. Rhoads, are also members of the All-Ohio Youth Choir.

Miami Trace High School's 1975 representative to the youth choir, John Milstead, recently returned from the group's annual European tour.

Lottery draw tonight

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Lottery, observing its second anniversary this month, introduces a new Pot O' Gold game tonight and will introduce one lucky ticket holder to a million-dollar prize.

The lottery's weekly number drawing—this time for the Pot O' Gold game which replaces the Buckeye 1,000—is being held in conjunction with the ninth millionaire drawing.

The action is planned for Dayton's Victory Theater, with live television coverage of the millionaire finals starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Lottery Commission usually holds weekly drawings on Thursday nights, but moved to Friday night this week because of the Republican National Convention, which dominated television screens the last few days.

The 100 ticket holders for the millionaire drawing each is guaranteed a $1,000 minimum. Ten finalists each will get $1,000 bonuses as well as splitting a $1,220,000 jackpot.

Seven of the lucky 10 get $10,000 consolation prizes, one gets $50,000, one gets $100,000, and the big winner gets his million bucks in 20 annual payments of $50,000 each.

The lottery says the 100 contestants include seven from Indiana, three from West Virginia, two from Kentucky, and one from Las Vegas.

The representative from one of the nation's best known gambling spots is Harry Robert, showroom and lounge manager at the Royal Casino in Las Vegas.

hearts. Anger and hatred had risen to dangerous levels, dividing friends and families. The polarization of our political order had aroused unworthy passions of reprisal and revenge."

There were other problems when he took office, Ford said.

"Our economy was in the throes of runaway inflation, taking us headlong into the worst recession since Franklin D. Roosevelt took the same oath," said the President.

But first, there was the debate challenge which caught Carter's staff by surprise.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford had been considering issuing the challenge for the past 10 days. He said it was left out of the advance text of the speech because Ford wanted to save it as a surprise for the delegates.

Carter's staff protested references to their response as an acceptance of Ford's challenge. They said Carter has repeatedly said he would be willing to debate his Republican opponent, even before he knew whether it would be Ford or Reagan.

The Carter staff said they would rather have their statement thought of as a counter challenge than an acceptance. They had planned to issue Carter's challenge this morning, but they released it Thursday night at a hastily called news conference before Ford had even finished his acceptance speech.

In Korean situation

U.S. military muscle backs up words

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The United States was sending two squadrons of jet fighters to South Korea today as the bodies of the two American officers killed by North Korean guards in the Panmunjom truce village were flown home.

South Korean President Chung Hee Park promised "immediate retaliatory steps in case of another illegal Communist North Korean provocation."

The U.S. Defense Department announced that a squadron of F4 Phantom jets had flown north from Okinawa to Korea and a squadron of F111's was being sent to Korea from Mountain Home Air Force Base in Idaho.

Officials in Washington said about 25 combat and reconnaissance planes were sent from Okinawa.

The Pentagon stressed that the Air Force reinforcement was a precautionary measure. Washington officials described it as a warning to North Korea, which has nearly three times as many combat planes as South Korea.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said other "precautionary military measures" were being taken but refused to give any indication of what they were.

"We want to make it absolutely clear that the United States will not accept attacks on its personnel," he said.

The two Americans were battered and hacked to death Wednesday while heading the security detail for a South Korean working party pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom, in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. The United States charged that North Korean guards attacked the Americans and South Koreans without provocation, killed the two American officers with axes and metal pikes and injured four American enlisted men and five South Koreans.

Three North Koreans were reported killed, and North Korea charged that the Americans and South Koreans attacked its troops.

The 41,000 American troops in Korea, South Korea's 600,000-man armed forces and North Korea's estimated 685,000 men in uniform were all put on precautionary alerts after the clash. But the 151-mile-long demilitarized zone was reported quiet today, and the people of Seoul went about their business as usual.

The bodies of the two Americans, Maj. Arthur Bonifas, 33, of Newburgh, N.Y., and 1st Lt. Mark T. Barrett, 25, of Columbia, S.C., were put aboard a U.S. Air Force C130 transport after a planeside memorial service at Kimpo International Airport attended by military personnel and more than 100 government, military and diplomatic officials.

Gen. Richard Stilwell, the commander of U.S. and U.N. forces in Korea, put Purple Hearts on the two flag-draped aluminum caskets. He also announced that Bonifas had been promoted posthumously to major.

Chaplain Robert A. Hutcherson led the mourners in prayer. A sergeant sounded taps, echoed by another bugler in the background. Three rifle volleys were fired.

Stilwell sent a strong protest to a meeting Thursday of the joint armistice commission in Panmunjom, and the United States delivered a full report on the incident to the U.N. Security Council in New York. It did not ask for any council action, however.

More blacks slain in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police announced today that 19 more blacks were killed in the past three days of rioting in black townships outside Port Elizabeth, the capital of South Africa's automobile industry, raising the country's toll in racial violence to at least 252 dead since mid-June.

Port Elizabeth, on the southeast coast, was calm but tense today. But "more bodies have been found," a police spokesman there said. "Some of them were killed by knives; others were run down by motor vehicles, and about two were shot."

This increased the death toll to 33 in the rioting, arson and looting that began Tuesday in Port Elizabeth's three black townships. Thirty persons were killed in Cape Town townships last week, and 189 died in rioting around Johannesburg and Pretoria in June and in early August.

All the dead but three were blacks. More than 1,500 have been injured.

The rioting spread outside the Port Elizabeth townships on Thursday, and for the first time industrial plants became a target. Until then, the violence had been confined to the black ghettos outside the cities, and the only effect on industry had been absenteeism caused by workers being prevented from getting to work. But on Thursday several hundred blacks tried to storm two automobile factories. Police gunfire drove them off.

So the Africa's industrialists called for sweeping improvements in political, living and employment conditions in the riot-torn black townships which supply their labor force. The Transvaal Chamber of Industries sent a memorandum to Prime Minister John Vorster urging self-government in the segregated townships in which all urban blacks must live, improved housing, and an end to job and wage discrimination.

"To give the black employee the dignity and self-respect to which he is entitled, wages should be adequate for him to pay for the services he utilizes," the statement said.

The businessmen also said it was essential "to recognize the permanence of the urban black in contrast to viewing him as a temporary sojourner."

The curbs on the free movement of blacks were also criticized as well as "the very poor state of black education and training" and discrimination by white trade unions.

Under the apartheid system, blacks cannot vote, sit in parliament or hold government office, are not allowed to own real estate outside the tribal areas, cannot compete for jobs with whites, are not allowed to belong to trade unions and are paid inferior wages.

Stock prices move lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were broadly lower today as Thursday's selling wave spilled into early trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than a point shortly after the opening bell.

Declines about doubled advances among the issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

As usual, early trading was fairly active.

Brokers said part of the market's recent sell-off stems from concern over the pause which seems to be developing in the economy. Earlier this week, the government lowered its estimates of second quarter GNP growth and it reported that second quarter corporate profits rose at a slower rate than during the first quarter.

Today, the government said consumer prices in July rose at an annual rate of 6 per cent equalling the June rate.

Much of the selling was due to profit-taking which appeared Wednesday when the Dow briefly crossed 1,000 and the announcement Thursday of a U.S. Military alert in Korea which jolted the market a bit.

Among early active stock prices, Continental Telephone rose 1/4 to 14 1/2.

International Business Machines fell 1/2 to 274 1/2; Digital Equipment dropped 1/2 to 170 1/2, and Disney was down 1/4 to 47 1/2.

Lawmen seek walkaway

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Law enforcement officers, civilian volunteers and Civil Air Patrol planes were combing the rugged hills of Ross County south of here today for a mentally retarded man who has been missing since early Tuesday morning.

The sheriff's office said no trace had been found of William Shafer, 27, a patient at the Columbus State Institute, who walked away from an outing at Camp Liberty Hill.

However, Dr. Robert Carl, institute superintendent, said he was optimistic that Shafer would be found alive.

He said Shafer, who has been in state institutions for 22 years and has the mentality of a 5-year-old, has been camping in the woods for several years and "I think he's capable of surviving."

Carl said Shafer had not been seen since he left his tent around 6 a.m. Tuesday to go to the latrine. Carl could not explain why Shafer would run away, saying he never had done so before during his long period of institutionalization.

He described Shafer as "severely retarded" and in need of supervision. He added that the patient posed no threat to anyone and said he probably is "scared, lost and hungry."

Nonaligned nations seek economic order

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — Leaders of the nonaligned movement returned home today after another call for a new international economic order and the usual criticism of the United States and its Western allies.

Communist and socialist countries were spared the harsh words.

Political and economic declarations approved Thursday at the end of the four-day, 85-nation summit conference condemned the West in specific and general terms. But the language of the economic statement was relatively restrained.

Diplomatic observers said this reflected awareness that the under-developed Third World can't achieve an economic breakthrough without the cooperation of industrialized North America, Western Europe and Japan.

The conference produced two unexpected moves: plans for the Third World countries to start their own commercial bank and a call for oil embargoes against France for agreeing to sell a nuclear reactor to South Africa and against Israel for contracting to build corvettes for the South African navy.

Although 10 of the 14 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) also belong to the nonaligned movement, no embargo is likely. The OPEC nations have never reduced their prices because of the hardships they cause other under-developed nations, and they are not likely to reduce their revenues for the remote possibility that this might benefit the blacks of South Africa.

The conference also asked the U.N. Security Council to impose a mandatory arms embargo against South Africa. This, too, is unlikely to be achieved.

Questions about debates

Anyone who raises questions about the wisdom of stagin televised debates between presidential candidates is in the minority and had better be prepared with arguments supporting his skepticism. In a recent Gallup Poll, 68 per cent of those queried favored debates on the national networks; only 23 per cent expressed opposition to the idea.

There are persuasive reasons for advocating such debates. We think it important to note, however, that this sort of confrontation also would have its drawbacks. These ought to be taken into account by those who will decide whether or not to stage debates — and, if they are staged, by voters who view them.

Those favoring the debates argue that they would tend to dramatize the campaign and attract interest among otherwise indifferent voters. A one-to-one discussion on prime time would, it is thought, give millions of Americans more firsthand information about the candidates and issues than they would otherwise receive through the news media. It also is asserted by some that the pressures of such a confrontation would reveal much about the candidates — the quickness and clarity of their thought processes, how they react under tension, their grasp of complex subject matter and their ability to make it comprehensible.

There is some truth in all this, but it is not the whole truth. One significant implication of arguments favoring debates is that a "winner" and a "loser" would emerge, and that this would — and ought to — be a major determining factor at the polls in November.

As a practical matter, the outcome of debates probably would not be so clearcut; partisan emotions would color viewers' perceptions of who came out ahead. But suppose the debates did produce an evident winner: does it follow that this candidate would make the better president? Not in our opinion. Those qualities which make for sound deliberative judgment and leadership are not necessarily the qualities which enable a person to score debating points.

A WORD EDGEWISE By John P. Roche

The sideshow 'radicals'

One of the most common — and infuriating — questions put to me about the New York Democratic Convention was, "What happened to the radicals?" This is annoying because it reflects a tendency, common over the past decade, to identify anti-social behavior with radicalism. It arose about 1965 from collaboration between the meretricious media of the airwaves (wholly concerned with ratings, that is $$$) and a lunatic fringe of the American intelligentsia which was ready, on the whir of a TV camera, to engage in pseudo-revolutionary vaudeville. The organizers of these charades were usually adults (in the technical sense of the word); their cannon fodder — the "kids." By revolutionary theater standards, the 1968 Democratic Convention in Chicago was a smasheroo. What could be better, more "newsworthy," than covering a street brawl instead of a seconding speech for Hubert Humphrey by Carl Stokes, then mayor of Cleveland and a leading black politician? To the nation at large, the image of Chicago was of cops bashing "radicals." What in fact happened was that young working — class Americans in blue uniforms were outrageously provoked by a bunch of wealthy malignant, irresponsible idiots, who had absolutely no claim on the honorable rubric "radical."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 21

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
False impressions, unpleasant altercations may crop up in your vicinity. Be ready, eager to quell them. There's always a way to get around undesirable situations. Find it!

TAURUS (April 12 to May 21)
A day in which the unexpected may happen. Stay loose so that you won't be caught unaware by sudden changes in plans or circumstances. But don't try to solve problems in haste.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
Neither listen to pessimists nor brood over the past-temptations now. Your advantages lie in inner strength, composure in trying situations.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)
Make necessary comparisons when others voice opinions, but stop there:

DO not inject a personal note or make arbitrary inferences. Just watch for discrepancies.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
Be cautious now — ready for an unexpected barrier, a sharp curve one way or another. Thus you can prevent errors, keep to your path in spite of little stellar backing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Excessive spending could be disastrous now. Don't speculate or indulge in extravagant whims, and watch the budget even when making minor purchases.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Ideas and plans for travel may be running into some difficulty — especially if you have planned too much activity or have been too optimistic about costs. There's still time to revise, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Someone in authority will now take action to aid your cause — widening your horizons considerably. You have good reason for optimism.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Your judgment somewhat "cloudy" now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable. If not well counseled, new ventures could pose a problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
A domestic situation may tax your ingenuity but cast aside any doubts of your ability to handle. By midday, you'll have the answers you need.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
This could be a somewhat erratic day unless you steer a steady course. Above all, avoid discussions which could upset associates.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with tremendous mental and physical strength; in the latter connection, would make a great success as an athlete. You learn easily, are highly imaginative, courageous and original in handling all your undertakings. Your wit is outstanding, and you would make a brilliant entertainer. You have a great love of beauty and, if you do not take up one of the arts as a career, may do so avocationally.

Ohio Perspective

'Zero-based budgeting'

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Zero-based" budgeting, as well as a new "sunset law" will be pushed next year by a Stark County legislator who says government is going to have to yield to citizen demands for greater government efficiency.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, who authored the new "sunset" law that requires government decisions to be made in open meetings, said he will seek passage of the two additional laws.

"Zero-based" budgeting has grown better known this presidential year because it has been espoused by Democratic Presidential nominee Jimmy Carter. Freeman said he would like to see it in Ohio's government, whether or not it becomes a reality at the federal level.

Over the years, Ohio's agencies planning fiscal needs two years in advance have become entrenched in a process that lets them start their calculations with what, in many instances, amounts to only a cursory review of funds they had in the past.

Using a zero base, they would have to "start from scratch" and justify each spending item. "A system like that might just help us get rid of some waste. In any case, we won't know until we try," Freeman said. He will introduce his bill when the 112th General Assembly convenes in January, he said.

Freeman introduced earlier his "sunset" measure which would require legislative review every two years of each state agency. If it were found that an agency was no longer needed or was failing to perform its envisioned functions, it then would be abolished. Freeman's bill allows for a two-year phase out of agencies, boards, or commissions — of which the state has nearly 300.

The former Stark County commissioner, midway in his first Senate term, said he hopes his "sunset" bill will get a hearing when the current legislature returns Sept. 14 for a two or three-day session.

However, he said he thinks it would be "asking an awful lot" for it to be approved this year.

His sunset bill is patterned in part after a 1976 Colorado statute, although the latter requires agency reauthorizations every six years, with one-year phaseouts.

A bill pending in Congress would provide for four-year reauthorizations. Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, along with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, are chief sponsors of the federal legislation.

Yesterday's Cryptquote: NO MAN GOES BEFORE HIS TIME — UNLESS THE BOSS HAS LEFT EARLY. — ANONYMOUS

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

He's hung up on having vasectomy

DEAR ABBY: My wife just had her fourth child, and we now have two boys and two girls, which are all we want.

My problem is that she wants me to have a vasectomy, but I'm chicken. It's not the pain I'm afraid of; it's just that I'm afraid I'll feel like less of a man just knowing that I won't be able to father any more children.

My wife can't tolerate the Pill, and the other methods of birth control turn her off, so it's up to me.

I feel dumb asking this, but should I or shouldn't I? What do other men who've had it say?

CHICKEN CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: If you're afraid you'll feel like "less of a man" after a vasectomy, the chances are you WILL, so unless you can overcome that feeling, I wouldn't recommend it.

Ask your wife to talk to her doctor about the new, quick and painless method of sterilization for women known as "laparoscopic tubal cautery." A tiny incision is made below the navel. The surgeon then inserts a scope, locates both tubes and seals them permanently. The incision is then closed with a small stitch, covered by a Band-Aid. The patient can go home an hour later.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 32-year-old divorcee. No kids, thank heavens. I met a wonderful man. He's 68, but before you say he's too old for me, let me say that he can do everything a 25-year-old man can do, and I'm not just guessing.

He has had two bum marriages and says this is the first time in his life he's ever been in love. I get along fine with his two married daughters, and his grandchildren are crazy about me.

He has a summer home in Indiana and a winter home in Florida, and he's been retired for 10 years.

He has a pacemaker, but you'd never know it unless he told you.

My brother is trying to talk me out of marrying him because he's afraid I'll end up being a young widow, but my mother and father both died before they were 50, so I could be dead at 35. What is your advice?

WILLING TO GAMBLE

DEAR WILLING: No one knows how long he's going to live or what shape he'll be in next year, so gamble if you like. But if you live to be 50, and he's still alive, you'll have an 86-year-old husband.

DEAR ABBY: Howie and I have been married for two years.

Everything is fine except for one thing. Whenever Howie needs to see a doctor, he goes to his pediatrician. Abby, Howie is 20 years old and I think it's time he stopped going to a pediatrician and went to a regular doctor.

I've told him this, but he doesn't pay any attention to me. Maybe if YOU told him, he'd listen.

A BABY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A pediatrician has all the training of a "regular" doctor, plus specialized training in the care of children, so if Howie is more comfortable with his pediatrician, why make waves?

Today In History

Today is Friday, Aug. 23, the 233rd day of 1976. There are 133 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1791, a Danish navigator, Vitus Bering, discovered Alaska.

On this date —
In 1833, the 23rd American President, Benjamin Harrison, was born in North Bend, Ohio.

In 1941, in World War II, the Russians blew up their Dnieper Dam as German troops swept across the Ukraine.

In 1955, hundreds were killed in anti-French riots in Morocco and Algeria.

In 1961, the East Germans were hurriedly building a wall along most of the 25-mile border between East and West Berlin.

In 1974, President Gerald Ford announced Nelson Rockefeller as his choice for Vice President.

Ten years ago: It was disclosed that the U.S. armed forces in South Vietnam had reached almost 300,000.

Five years ago: Leaders of Libya, Egypt and Syria signed a constitution designed to bind their countries in the Federation of Arab Republics.

One year ago: A U.S. spaceship bound for the planet Mars was launched from Cape Canaveral.

Today's birthday: Former baseball manager Al Lopez is 68.

Thought for today: I am a lover and have not found my thing to love. — Sherwood Anderson, American writer, 1876-1941.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Benjamin Franklin wrote to British Admiral Richard Howe that to propose now to the American Colonies that they submit to the British Crown would be fruitless because the temper of Americans was in favor of independence.

Passage of the Red Sea

And the waters returned, and covered the chariots, and the horse-men, and all the host of Pharaoh. — Exodus 14: 28

After the slaughter of Egypt's firstborn, Pharaoh capitulated and finally told the Israelites to depart from the land. Hurriedly, they went—six hundred thousand of them. But no sooner had they left than Pharaoh had a change of heart and, with his army, took off in pursuit. At the bank of the Red Sea, with the enemy behind them, the Israelites were terrified, but God instructed Moses to lift his rod and stretch his hand over the sea. As he did so, the waters parted into two walls and the Israelites crossed over the dry land. Reaching the far bank, Moses again stretched out his hand and the waters returned, engulfing the entire Egyptian army.

Princess Grace: faith built family

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After 20 years of marriage, the one-time Hollywood star and the ruler of Monaco say the basis for successful, happy life together is their shared religious convictions. "The discipline of one's faith is the cement that keeps a family together," says Prince Rainier. The Princess, former actress Grace Kelly, seconds that view, saying: "A similar Christian background and training is of great importance to harmony in family life, so that no matter what problems or discords may enter a family, the base is solid to fall back on in difficulties."

"I know for myself—in my own situation—marrying a man from a different country — different language—different culture and traditions—who was also a head of state with big responsibilities—it would have been extremely difficult without the strong basic bond of our religion."

The prince, 53, heavyset, in rumpled dark suit and squaretoed loafers, and the still lovely princess, 46 in trim beige dress, a gold collar at her throat, her brown hair in a bun at her neck, spoke at the recent International Eucharistic Congress here.

They now have three children, Caroline, 19; Albert, 17, and Stephanie, 11, and the parents offered some tips on how to nurture the offspring.

Make the child feel secure, suggested the prince, and also give the child a strong faith, the Christian affirmation of love and goodness at the heart of life.

"At home a child yearns for a kind authority, a great deal of consideration and affection," he said. But in the long run, he added, a youngster's inner security depends on acquiring faith in God, a recognition that "above and beyond us, there is only one authority to whom we have committed ourselves in obedience."

In modern society, with so many materialistic preoccupations, he said, "we have reached the point where it is up to Christians, parents and religious soldiers of the church, to show the way."

Princess Grace, who starred in such movies as "High Noon," "High Society" and "Rear Window," winning an academy award before her marriage in 1956, says the most important thing to give a child is character.

The role of the wife and mother, she said, is primarily to "keep the family together" in a harmonious unit.

"It is essential to establish a fundamental discipline and respect within the family structure," she said. "This is mainly the mother's job—not only to teach her children to respect the authority of the father as natural head of the family but to respect each other and to respect themselves."

"We must provide our children with an identity—surround them with faith, hope and love," she said.

When William Henry Harrison was elected President in 1840, Ohio was the third among the states in population of 1.5 million, an increase of 63 per cent in a single decade.

Noted country singer gives religious views

Usually appearing as a light-hearted and skillful musician, there is, by his own admission, a strong religious conviction behind the talents of an oft-televized country singer.

Washington C.H. residents will have an opportunity via a television broadcast Aug. 31 to learn of country singer Roy Clark's religious convictions, and how they have helped shape his multi-faceted life.

According to evangelist Oral Roberts, Clark is a man of so many talents that a reviewer once said, "The only critical remark I can think of is that Roy's dancing could possibly improve!"

The man is a master musician, relying most heavily on guitar, 12-string acoustic, banjo and fiddle, although he can "get by" on five others, Roberts said. He is a noted comedian who writes all of his own material and has been honored by his peers as Comedian of the year. He records songs for the ABC-Dot label; he composes string instrumentals; he is a much sought-after guest on major network and syndicated television shows and specials. And yes, he dances, once recently in white tie and tails down a staircase on The Donny & Marie Osmond Show.

Roy Clark is also a pilot, operating from the left front seat of his Mitsubishi prop jet that whisks him from one concert date to the next, a total of 250 annually. He's a photographer, a boat captain, an outdoorsman, a rancher, a horse racing enthusiast - particularly when it involves one from his own stable, a broadcaster, a co-owner of Tulsa, Oklahoma radio stations KTOW and KGOW-FM, a music publisher, a businessman, and even a President - of Roy Clark's Dieter's Choice, a new line of weight control foods.

Roy Clark is also a pioneer. He was one of the first to establish country music as a popular and highly successful attraction in a major showroom along the Las Vegas strip. He now plays the main showroom of the Frontier Hotel nine weeks each year.

He is the first country music performer ever to be enshrined in the world famous Movieland Wax Museum in Buena Park, California, and he is also the first country music artist ever to headline his own show in the Soviet Union during an unprecedented three-week concert tour there in January-February of 1976. Performances in Riga, in the Latvian Republic, in Leningrad and in Moscow were sold out weeks before his arrival. Roy left the USSR with an invitation by their government for a return engagement. It's Roy's very special draw to fans of all musical tastes that has established him so universally as the brilliant entertainer he is, Roberts said.

According to Roberts, things weren't always first class for Clark, at least not career-wise. Like everyone else, he paid his dues working small, smoky clubs, and as an opening act for more established artists.

"Growing up in the Washington area of Meherrin, Va., where his father worked for the federal government, Roy may well have surprised the teachers who didn't predict greatness from the youngster they said could never take things seriously, the very basis of Roy's ineffable humor," Roberts said.

The family was musically inclined, with his father, uncles and cousins picking and playing at local events. "I was just a kid of about three when I discovered Dad's banjo, and I naturally assumed it was a drum, something to pound on, which is exactly what I did," said Clark. "Well, I got straightened out pretty quick," he added.

With his Mother's guidance, Clark learned to pick well enough to take the nation's country music banjo championship at the age of 16, coming back the following year to win it again. A special guest appearance at Nashville's Grand Ole Opry was part of the prize, and the experience probably whetted Roy's appetite for a music career.

His aspirations proved realistic, as awards for his achievements have been many. Voted Entertainer of the Year by the Country Music Association and the Academy of Country Music, he has also been named country music star of the year by the American Guild of Variety Artists.

In 1975 Clark joined other show biz luminaries by having a "star" placed on his behalf along Hollywood Boulevard's famous "Walk of Fame." He is honored there in the television category.

Television appearances are multiple, including appearances on shows hosted by Mac Davis, Merv Griffin, Mike Douglas, Flip Wilson, Bob Hope, Dinah!, Sammy & Company, The Odd Couple, Hollywood Squares, Tony Orlando & Dawn, Donny & Marie Osmond, and Andy Williams. His co-hosting of the television show, "Hee Haw" is seen by over 34 million viewers weekly.

Mrs. Del Ponte attends recent COE convention

Mrs. Regina Del Ponte, Cooperative Office Education (Coe) Coordinator at Washington Senior High School, recently attended a two-day regional cooperative office education in-service conference held at Hueston Woods Lodge. The purpose of the conference, under the direction of Nelson Madden, teacher-educator of Kent State University, was to implement new procedures and update others to fit the growth COE has made.

COE is a vocational program for seniors who wish to enter the secretarial field. The students attend school in the morning and work in offices during the afternoon.

David J. Vicarel, State Supervisor, Ohio State Department of Education, welcomed the 50 Cincinnati area COE coordinators and spoke on the importance of the coordinator's effectiveness in his role.

Madden explained the necessity of the use of properly prepared training plans to make COE an effective learning program for the student. Upon completion of his presentation, Madden directed a work session wherein the teachers formulated a model training plan.

Leonard Albright, bureau of education research of the University of Illinois, spoke on developing instructional units and modules. He explained that these instructional units are to be constructed as supplemental instructional aids to meet the needs of the individual student—not as a class instructional tool. Following Albright's explanation, and under his directives, another work session was held and teachers formulated a model module.

Ms. Clairette Boder, guidance counselor of Eastland Vocational School, in Columbus, spoke on the role the guidance counselor should have in the COE program. She explained techniques to aid in determining each student's career objective and the needs in reaching this objective. The guidance counselor's role can be a great help in student selection for the program, but she stressed that in no way does this role eliminate the coordinator's responsibility in the final selection of the student for the program.

Jim Busher, vocational supervisor of Cleveland City Schools, gave a detailed report on labor regulations as they relate to the student in a cooperative program.

Ted Johnson, assistant director of business and office education, gave a very impressive resume of the COE program. He recalled the beginning of five COE programs provided for by the Vocational Act of 1963 and traced its progress over the past years and discussed the millions of dollars that have been invested in the program.

Today, Johnson said, thousands of COE students train on the modern office equipment and in a realistic manner, they are being graduated with a readiness to take their place in the business world.

Garden club works with unusual items

The Posey Garden Club recently met at Deer Creek State Park, in the picnic area, for a workshop using "Contrived Containers" and roadside plant material as their subjects. After the arrangers had finished their designs in the unusual containers, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter evaluated each design and chose the following as winners: Mrs. Frank Barret, first place; Mrs. Ethel Wilson, second place and Mrs. Medrith Hanawalt, third place. The workshop was educational as well as fun.

Mrs. Schlichter exhibited containers she had made from clay, gourds, metal and glass. She also showed snapshots of the winning arrangements in the recent OAGG flower show.

The club will send contributions to a Wakeena fund, the Victor H. Reis Fellowship fund and the Victor H. Reis memorial garden, in Dayton, planned by Region three.

Plans for a fall flower show and table pictures on September 15, at the Madison Mills United Methodist Church, were completed. Mrs. Bess Seaman is the chairman of this event.

An evening cookout was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barret, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Schlichter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benner, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bihl and Carol, Mrs. Easter Woods, Mrs. Seaman, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Lytle Hanawalt and Mrs. Bernard Edwards.

A summertime treat toaster oven: cool cooking

All year you buy gifts for friends and family to celebrate a birthday, Christmas, weddings and anniversaries. Use summertime as a special time and give yourself a gift for a change. Treat yourself to something that lets you enjoy warm weather and spend more time outdoors with your family. A toaster oven can make mealtime a breeze, allowing you to prepare everything from quick snacks and hors d'oeuvres to sumptuous dinners — and toaster ovens can help keep your kitchen cool.

Available in many styles, capacities and with various special features, Toaster-Oven toasters from GE can be great summertime kitchen helpers. Any one of the four General Electric models can be just right for your needs.

Senior citizens attend musical

Those members of the Fayette County Senior Citizens Center, who motored to the Beverly Hills, in Newport, Ky., recently spent the evening dining and then viewing the show "Merri-Mimes", a Happy Birthday U.S.A. musical. A fast moving and very enjoyable program, impersonations were done of Cher, Carol Channing, and Jerry Lewis.

The senior citizens enjoyed the old-time tunes, which brought back many memories of years gone by.

The first white man believed to have seen the Ohio River was Rene Robert Cavalier, Sieur de la Salle. He first heard of the river from the Seneca Indians in 1666 when he moved to Canada at the age of 23.

The T-26 model can toast up to four slices of bread, bake family size casseroles, top brown foods and — with the broil feature — broil hamburgers, steaks, and chops.

There's a Toaster-Oven toaster in a smaller capacity that's perfect for the quick-cooking needs of small families, singles or couples. All models are versatile cookers and real energy misers. And if you've been avoiding baking because your range or oven makes your kitchen too hot, your problem is solved. A Toaster-Oven toaster by GE — because of its smaller size — generates much less heat.

So treat yourself right this summer, untie yourself from a hot oven and turn on your toaster oven.

Put effort into vacation

Savvy travelers know that it's not very bright to start a trip in the dark, without knowing where you're going or what you're going to see.

Read up on the places you'll be going to see. This year, particularly, many communities have special bicentennial events that you may not have a chance to see for another 200 years if you miss them this time around. Be sure your tour book is up-to-date so you'll be sure to discover them.

Be sure you never leave without reservations. You should know where you'll be spending the night. Fortunately, there are rooms available at even the most popular bicentennial areas and you can make your reservations in minutes for months in advance, if you like, by calling any Holiday Inn hotel. It's Holidex system can book you into any of their approximately 1,550 Inns in America.

You also should be sure you have any reservations you may need for such things as ferry trips, camp sites and if necessary, meals and shows.

Your advance planning should include getting your car in order, if a motor trip is part of your plans. To be sure it can stand the trip, have it checked by a garage you trust. Be sure to start with a full gas tank.

As part of your packing preparations, take along an emergency kit; umbrella, blanket, first aid items, insect repellent and suntan lotion.

You'll probably find you'll get more mileage out of your trip if you take some time to prepare in advance.

61st annual meeting of Summer Colony held

The 61st annual meeting of the Summer Colony, at Cedarhurst, was held recently. Eighty-two members, former members and friends gathered for the meeting. Following a bountiful picnic, William Junk, temporary chairman, presided over a short business session.

This, being a historically oriented year, Junk gave a brief history of the summer colony and then opened the meeting for those present to recount past incidents and amusing events that have occurred during the years.

Cedarhurst started as a two-week camping trip in 1915 for six young couples, their families and friends, on land owned by I.J. Garringer, near Rock Mills. Rain for 10 out of the 14 days of the encampment, plus leaky tents, did not dampen the enthusiasm of the group. The following year they leased 15 acres of the ground and six quite rustic and inexpensive cottages were constructed by the six original couples. In 1926 the original 15 acres, plus 30 more, were purchased from the Garinger estate and over the years, five more cottages have been erected by members as they joined the group.

In 1953, a swimming pool was built, replacing Paint Creek as a swimming area. In 1971, a modern tennis court was constructed on the site of a clay court which had been in service for many years.

Myrtle McCoy and Miriam Fite, two of the original group, were present at the last meeting of the Summer Colony, and were recognized as "charter members".

Those in attendance from out-of-town were, Mr. and Mrs. Henry (Enid McClure) Woodward, Chapel Hill, N.C., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Feurt) McClure, Gilderland, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClure, Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fite, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parker and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Hellebush, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hellebush, Ann Hellebush, Mrs. Howard Stitt and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cockerill, all from Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barnett, William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Horton and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Baer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harkins and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seelbinder, all of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, and family, from Detroit, Mich.

Local people in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baer, Mr. and Mrs. William Junk and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Wilson, Mrs. Willard Wilson, Mrs. Charles Runnels, Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoads and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Schaeper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hagler, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hagler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Craig, Mrs. Fred Oswald, Robert Barnett, Myrtle McCoy, Miriam Fite, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brownell.

Church of LDS to show "Johnny Miller" film at fair

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) will present a new movie starring world-famous golf champion, Johnny Miller, at their booth in the Buckeye Building at the Ohio State Fair, from August 26 through September 6.

Johnny's recent first place victory at the British Open in Southport, England, on July 10, assured him of his athletic prowess on the links. Golfing, however, comes third in his life, after his family and church. He has often said that the most important thing is to properly lead and guide his family.

The 13-minute movie entitled, "Johnny Miller: The Other Side", relates through dialogues with Johnny and his family how firmly he believes this.

The movie was filmed at the Miller's home in Napa, Calif., and shows the Millers in various activities with their three oldest children.

The Latter-day Saints' booth at the fair will carry out the Miller's theme on family unity by displaying various exterior and interior pictures of LDS Temples. Church members believe that the family unit is eternal and does not dissolve at death. This is brought about through the restoration of the priesthood which has the authority to seal families together for the eternities. These sealings are performed in LDS Temples throughout the world. Other means of binding the family closer together while on earth will also be depicted.

Jobless formula could affect election

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A statistical formula that compels the addition of more than 2 million to the number of unemployed counted over the final five months of the year could affect the outcome of the Presidential election.

The effect of the formula will be to maintain upward pressure on the official unemployment rate.

Producing the situation is a gap between the number of jobless workers counted in actual surveys and the number of jobless reported on a seasonally adjusted basis. That statistical gap must be closed by the end of the year.

Asked to comment on the situation, Julius Shiskin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, said "I didn't dream it was that high."

The situation results from the adjusting of raw data to offset seasonal factors that tend to distort the underlying pattern, such as the Christmas and Easter selling seasons. In some months additions are made; in others, subtractions.

The seven-month cumulative total of jobless found in the raw statistics so far this year is 52,158,000, or an average per month of 7,451,143, but that figure was adjusted down to 49,922,000, or 7,131,714 per month.

To maintain the integrity of the statistical formula, which dictates that both raw and seasonally adjusted totals be in near agreement for the year as a whole, some 2,236,000 must be added into the jobless figures by Dec. 31.

The jobless rate for two of the months, August and September, will be released prior to the November elections. The October figure is scheduled to be released a few days after the elections.

The inclusion of an additional 2,236,000 unemployed in the final five months doesn't necessarily mean the official jobless rate will rise, because the job market tends to improve at this time, offsetting the addition.

However, it will have the impact of making any reduction in the jobless rate more difficult to achieve. And if the economic expansion slows, the statistical formula could result in a rising jobless rate.

Albert Sindlinger, president of Sindlinger & Co. of Media, Pa., which has compiled its own jobless data for more than 25 years, maintains that only an unprecedented and unlikely surge in employment can deter a jobless rate rise.

Sindlinger commented this week that not only was the surge not developing but that the employment situation was deteriorating. "I'm not finding more people getting jobs," he said. "People are getting laid off."

Jack Bregger, chief of the Labor Department's division of employment and unemployment analysis, defended the seasonal adjusting technique. In the first seven months of any year the raw data, on average, will always exceed the seasonally adjusted count, he said.

The reason for this is that the number of jobless is statistically reduced in these months because job markets generally are weaker earlier in the year. But, he continued, the seasonal adjustment of the rest of the year, when job markets improve, closes the gap.

The factor by which each month is adjusted is determined and announced at the beginning of the year, based on a review of what was experienced in earlier years. The formula cannot be changed within the year.

At the end of the year, however, the jobless rates for each month are reviewed, and changes often are made. Thus, the jobless rate for May 1975, originally announced at 9.2 per cent, was lowered to 8.9 this January.

Many people, even some in important federal offices, as well as members of both parties, fail to recognize that the figures used in official jobless rate are formulated rather than counted.

The Ford administration, which conceivably could be seriously hurt by the upcoming jobless rates, has complained only mildly. Earlier this summer the President's press secretary, Ronald Nessen, complained that the adjusting factor distorted the jobless rate.

Ohio Republicans seen mostly happy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Ohio Republicans attended their national convention here this week. A good time was had by all.

Well, not quite by all.

The Ohio delegation began returning to Ohio today facing the same problem as the party nationally: how to unite behind President Ford and Robert Dole to defeat Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

For the six Ronald Reagan delegates, the experience was less than cheerful. John D. Janosik of Mansfield, a Reagan delegate, began crying after Ford named Kansas Sen. Robert Dole as his running mate. Janosik wanted Reagan for the second spot.

"We're going to lose California," Janosik said as tears rolled down his cheeks. "We're going to lose Texas..."

Ohio's few Reagan delegates were passionately committed to the former California governor. His loss left several delegates saying they would vote for Ford in November, but not work for their party's nominee.

"I know Bob Dole," said Reagan delegate A. Jane Fox of Ashland. "He's a nice guy, but..."

She said she didn't know if she could work for a Ford-Dole ticket in November.

Kathryn Davidson of Hebron said she would have little time to work for Ford because of her role as president of the Republican women's club in Licking County. She said she would work mostly for local candidates.

"I'm not trying to be divisive," she said. "I'll go along with the party."

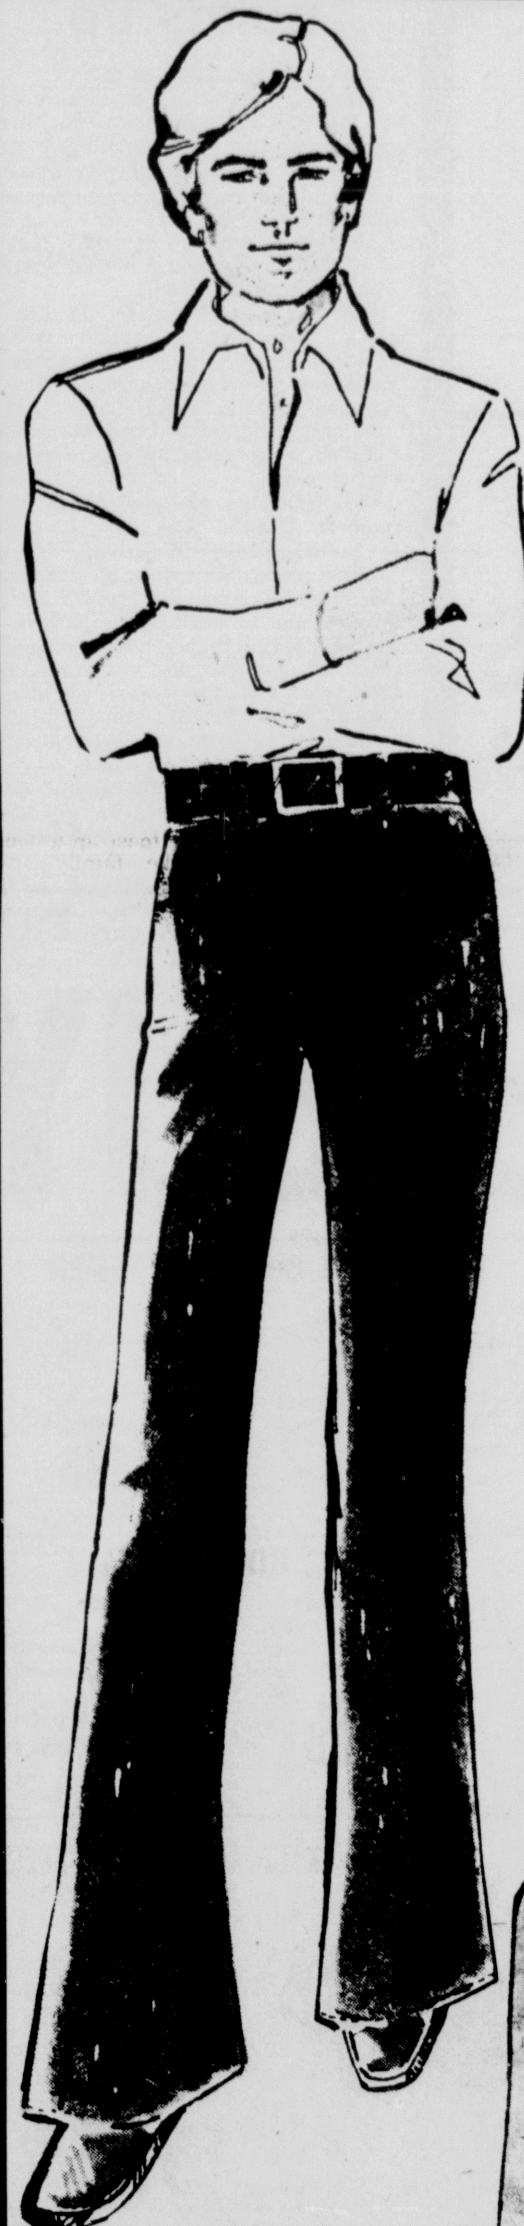

"But frankly, I don't think it can be done," she said of the fall election. "They're two good men. I really believe that. But I don't think it's a winning ticket."

W. Edward Edwards, a Reagan delegate from Portsmouth, was asked his reaction to the nomination.

"One word," he replied. "Disappointment. That's all I want to say."

The six Reagan delegates were alone in one of the largest blocs committed to President Ford at the convention.

Nursing home panel starts over

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new Nursing Home Commission has a chairman and apparent unity for the time being at least, after a shaky beginning last week in Gov. James A. Rhodes' cabinet room.

House Majority Floor Leader William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, chairman of the 11-member panel, successfully brought a majority together for an organizational meeting Thursday. Mallory boycotted the first meeting in Rhodes office because he said as chairman it was his prerogative to schedule sessions and set the agenda.

In calling his own meeting in a Statehouse committee room, Mallory asserted himself as chairman and attempted to narrow the scope of the commission's investigation.

"The key purpose is to better serve nursing home residents," the Hamilton County lawmaker said, "and that is the purpose toward which I believe we should work."

At the initial meeting, Rhodes said the commission should take advantage of the leeway provided by law and go beyond nursing homes to probe the state's troubled Medicaid program.

About 30,000 welfare clients reside in nursing homes, thanks to Medicaid benefits.

Rhodes, who is not a member, vetoed the bill sponsored by Mallory which created the commission. However, the legislature overrode the veto.

The governor still had and used his authority to appoint four nursing home industry representatives to the commission. Three members of his cabinet also are members and the four other commissioners are legislators, two Democrats and two Republicans.

Herbert Arfman, a Salem nursing home operator, and vice chairman of the commission, said Thursday a motion at the meeting called by Rhodes granting him (Arfman) the same power as Mallory was meant to apply "only in the absence of the chairman."

The minutes of the Aug. 12 meeting reflect that qualification. But it was not noted when the motion was read and adopted on that day, leaving the impression that the Rhodes appointee was attempting to crowd Mallory.

The Thursday meeting, which was given over mostly to procedural matters, also provided the commissioners with a forum to air their views on what direction the panel should take.

Arfman hinted he would stress the Medicaid issue during the course of deliberations.

He said recent findings that state Medicaid reimbursements per patient ranged from $8 a day to $31 among various homes shocked him "as deeply as any man can be being in the industry for 25 years."

Rep. Michael Fox, R-58 Hamilton, said the commission had "an opportunity to set an example for the rest of the country."

"It depends upon our ability to set aside partisanship," he said. "It depends upon our ability to set aside special interests."

The commission voted to cancel a meeting set for today in Rhodes cabinet room and Mallory tentatively scheduled the next meeting for Sept. 9.

Tropic storm builds up

By The Associated Press
Tropical storm "Dottie" intensified off the Florida coast overnight, and forecasters said the storm may be headed for the coast of the Carolinas. They said Dottie could reach hurricane force today.

Meanwhile, tropical storm "Candice" lost strength and moved away from the Northeast coast.

Gale warnings were posted for today along the Atlantic coast from Jacksonville, Fla., to Virginia Beach, Va. A hurricane watch was posted from Savannah, Ga., to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

A flash flood watch covered South Carolina today as locally heavy rains moved inland.

Thunderstorms extended along the southern Atlantic coast this morning from Florida to North Carolina.

There were also scattered showers this morning from the Pacific Northwest to the northern plains. Showers and occasional thundershowers were scattered over the northern third of California and from east Arizona through west Texas. Showers and thundershowers were scattered along the west half of the Gulf coast.

Fargo, N.D., and Minneapolis-St. Paul endured record temperatures for the second straight day Thursday, with 105 and 97, respectively.

GOVERNOR GETS CORPS HARD HAT — Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes accepts a Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) memento from Colleen Ballard of New Carlisle and David Chen of Akron during a visit to the YCC camp at Zaleski State Forest. The 1976 YCC program operated by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources provided employment in conservation work for over 800 Ohio youths.

At 60 state-owned facilities

Youth conservation program provides jobs for 812 teens

COLUMBUS, Ohio — "Work, earn and learn" is the motto of the Youth Conservation Corps (YCC), which provided a novel experience for 812 teenagers, who were part of the program operated by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources this summer.

For the students, YCC provided an opportunity to learn about ecology and the outdoors while earning a nominal amount of money for performing necessary conservation work.

The 1976 YCC program, operated in two one-month cycles, ended August 14. Youths, age 15-18, worked four days a week on a variety of projects involving state parks, forests, and wild-life management activities. One day per week and several evenings were devoted to conservation education programs.

"This is one of the finest programs of its kind," said Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes during a visit to one of the 10 YCC camps operated by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. "I would like to see it expanded in the future."

The YCC program permitted the Ohio Department of Natural Resources to do much needed conservation work at 60 state-owned facilities. The YCC also participated in numerous community involvement projects, particularly during the bicentennial celebrations in July.

In addition to working on trails for horseback riding and hiking and nature trails across the state, the YCC performed erosion control work, renovated and painted buildings and fences, constructed several state park amphitheaters and picked up tons of litter.

YCC crews worked on several restoration projects, including Caesar Creek Pioneer Village and the historic French Bauer Dairy Barn in Lebanon. Youths also built walks at the Ohio Village in Columbus, assisted at the annual Bonneyfiddle Festival in Portsmouth and conducted cleanup work following a wind storm in Muskingum County.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources this year operated six residential and four non residential camps. Youths attended one of two four-week sessions. Those attending residential camps were paid $207 plus room and board. Those at non-residential locations who commuted to and from home received $264.

A new YCC innovation this year were "spike camps," self-contained camps for crews dispatched to work sites for periods of two or more days. "Spike camp" is railroad jargon referring to camps set up along the line to house and feed crews adding track to the system.

"The value of the work accomplished by the Youth Conservation Corps is only a portion of the return for the investment," said Ohio Department of Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater.

"Teenagers attending the camps learn what it means to conserve our natural resources. Since they will be the adults making the decisions of tomorrow, what they learn is vitally important," Teater added.

David Franklyn, chief of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources office of employe services, attributed much of the success of Ohio's program to the quality of the staffs at the respective camps.

"In addition to having the educational and professional backgrounds desired, the YCC staffers demonstrated their abilities to establish a rapport with the campers under their direction," said Franklyn whose office is responsible for the state YCC program.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources operated its 1976 YCC program under a $650,000 grant from the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior, which administer the program nationally.

State agencies involved in YCC operations receive 80 per cent funding from the federal government. ODNR provided $175,000 in Department services for the $825,000 program.

In addition to the 10 Ohio Department of Natural Resources camps, the federal government operated five YCC camps in Ohio this year.

The popularity of the YCC program nationwide ensures it will be expanded in the future. Legislation has been introduced in Congress to expand the present Youth Conservation Corps and provide year-round conservation jobs for up to a million young people, age 15-25.

Day dreams seen escape from life

CINCINNATI (AP) — Daydreams, reports a University of Cincinnati psychologist, provide a sort of escape from daily life, but not necessarily in the extreme as depicted in the story "Walter Mitty," by author James Thurber.

Professor William Seeman, in a recently completed study involving 400-500 college students, found that the most common daydream was one of sexual fantasy. This was true for both men and women.

Every student interviewed reported that he or she daydreamed about sex at one time or another, Seeman said.

In another study under Seeman's guidance, the most common daydream reported by high school boys was one of athletic achievements while high school girls said they daydreamed more about dating and looking attractive.

Seeman quoted another study which showed that middle aged adults daydream more about jobs and their job future than anything else.

Daydreams are valuable because they provide a "dress rehearsal" for daily tasks, Seeman said. They also give people a chance to prepare for difficult tasks.

However, Seeman continued, "daydreams can be dangerous" because they give some people a place to hide from reality.

Land survey map available

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A map depicting the first governmental land surveys of Ohio has been reprinted and is now available from the Division of Geological Survey of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The map, entitled "Map of Ohio Showing Original Land Subdivisions," was first printed in 1922. Although black and white copies have been available, advanced printing techniques have for the first time allowed an exact color reproduction of the original to be made.

Compiled on the map are all of the early land survey districts giving township and range numbers, county and civil township names and principal cities.

"The information on this map is valuable to those involved in surveying and property descriptions, or anyone interested in the development and early history of Ohio," said Horace Collins, chief of the division of geological surveys.

The map with a scale of six miles to the inch, is printed on heavy paper impregnated with plastic.

Copies may be obtained for $5 from the Division of Geological Survey, Fountain Square, Building B, Columbus, 43224.

There is an additional charge of 50 cents for mailing folded copies and $1 for mailing rolled copies. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Division of Geological Survey.

A companion book, "Original Ohio Land Subdivisions," details how the individual surveys were developed and conducted. It is available from the same address for $4.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The final gavel of the 1976 GOP National Convention may have marked the end as well for NBC's nightly gavel-to-gavel television coverage of the nation's two major political conventions, a tradition NBC says it began in 1948.

That was the year H. L. Mencken, at the GOP show, thought about the new thing called TV, the hot lights thereof and their probable effect on the keynote speaker. "He may faint or even catch fire," Mencken mused.

No such fears exist now. Democratic and Republican conventions are planned specifically for TV, for massive prime time TV exposure. But NBC's exposure could be much less in 1980 — and cause a significant shift in the nature of the big shows.

ABC dropped the big programming spectaculars in 1968 in favor of showing highlights only. CBS says it plans to review its coverage but wouldn't predict the outcome.

Richard C. Wald, president of NBC News, says his network began pondering a change in its method of convention coverage well before the Democratic bash in July.

"We made the decision to go into these conventions gavel-to-gavel with the presumption that at the conclusion they might be the last," he said.

He said the decision wasn't prompted by the ratings success ABC enjoys with its convention-week mixture of entertainment shows and abbreviated convention coverage.

It's basically because "the nature of the convention itself is changing ... the primaries are becoming the main instrument in the choice of a (presidential) candidate," he said. "Presuming that to continue, the elements of the convention will be different in coming years."

Wald conceded that gavel-to-gavel coverage, as done now, "is not entirely satisfactory from an audience point of view — I mean, the audience doesn't watch it much — but it also has limitations from a journalistic standpoint."

Federated earnings dip

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federated Department Stores Inc. has reported net earnings declined 24.8 percent during the second quarter from figures during the same period last year.

Federated showed net earnings of $20.7 million, or 47 cents a share. In a similar period last year, the company reported net earnings of $27.6 million, or 62 cents a share.

Ralph Lazarus, the company's chairman, said many factors were responsible for the drop in net earnings.

"Near the end of the first quarter, it became evident that sales had lost buoyancy, especially in non-durables," Lazarus said. "This continued to be true during the second quarter. We consequently incurred higher mark-downs and promotional expenses to get our inventories to more satisfactory levels."

Leona Gosney on vote board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Leona Gosney has been appointed to the Columbiana County Board of Elections, Secretary of State Ted Brown announced.

Brown said Mrs. Gosney was appointed after Rep. Wayne Hays decided not to seek re-election. Brown had upheld Mrs. Gosney's appointment because her husband was a Hays aide. She will serve her husband's unexpired term.

Brown had refused to reappoint Don Gosney to the board to avoid what Brown called "potential conflict of interest."

Anti-bias law brings complaints

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new state law prohibiting discrimination against handicapped persons has caused 26 complaints to be filed with the Civil Rights Commission.

A commission spokesman said Wednesday that employees are processing the cases even though the commission has not set final guidelines on how the law will be administered.

Final guidelines are expected to be approved by the commission at its Sept. 14 meeting.

The law says employers cannot refuse to hire a handicapped person when the person otherwise meets the job qualifications.

Take it from one who knows freshman football is no fun

Freshman football practice starts soon in Fayette County—Washington C.H. today and Miami Trace on Monday. While typing up the notices for the paper the other day, my thoughts drifted back to the year I went out for the freshman team. It was my first taste of organized football.

Unlike many freshmen who will be going out for the local high school teams, I had no prior experience. There are pony league football and junior high school programs in this county.

The only thing I knew about football was what I saw on television, learned on the sandlot field and read in my Raymond Berry "Football Fundamentals" book.

Considering the local ninth graders have some experience and know what to expect, I won't be worried about frightening them off by saying "Freshman football is no fun."

It wasn't fun when I tried out as a freshman even though I learned to enjoy the game in later seasons.

I used to get sick at my stomach each day at school when the time for practice rolled around. Being out on the field wasn't as bad as thinking about being out on the field.

Where I went to high school, it is hotter than it is in Ohio, I also had a annual habit of coming down with hayfever in August and September. Have you ever sneezed on your face mask?

When I went out for the team, I thought we would choose up sides each day and play a game of football. I had no idea we would run countless laps and wind sprints, push blocking sleds around and receive forearm shivers on the helmet when we least expected it.

There were few thrills and no glory. Over 100 guys showed up for the first day of practice, when the coach took all us short, fat recruits aside and told us we would be guards. I wanted to be an end. Before the first game, they handed out jerseys and I got No. 52. So did two other guys.

The varsity and junior varsity players used to make fun of us when we put our hip pads on backwards. Freshmen football players were the butt of many jokes. They also were the recipients of the cast-off equipment.

I started out as a fifth string guard—it would have been sixth, but there weren't enough players for six squads. I quickly moved up to third string because about half of the original recruits slowly dropped out over the long, hot weeks. Even one of the No. 52's quit.

Many of the freshmen players were already shaving while some—like me—were searching for puberty. A lot of the guys had muscles.

Our coaches were stern. The one who tutored the line was almost unforgettable. I remember him perfectly except for his real name. I have no trouble recalling what we nicknamed him.

He actually yelled at us and embarrassed us. It was rather traumatic for a 13-year-old. However, I outgrew it by the time I was a senior. I also grew a foot and was no longer short, fat and wiry.

There was one fond memory from my freshman year. We had a guy who must of weighed over 200 pounds and didn't quite have his heart in playing football. In fact he was one of the few players I could actually block out of a play.

We used to have a tackling drill where one of us got the ball and tried to run over another guy. It was simple enough and the coach said it would help us with our "technique." He used that a word a lot.

This big kid couldn't tackle anybody and the coach used to get very upset. We had another kid named Larry, who couldn't have weighed more than 115 pounds but he could hit. Larry was tough and he also had what the coaches called a "smart mouth."

One day during the tackling drill, Larry laid some kid out. The coach turned to the fat guy and said, "See that. That's how to make a tackle and Larry's only half your size."

The coach turned to Larry and asked "How much do you weigh?" Larry didn't even crack a smile and said "275 coach."

The coach didn't crack a smile either. Larry ran a lot of laps that year.

Unbeaten Bengals to meet Vikes

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings hope to shake off a sluggish preseason start when they play their first home game of the year Sunday, taking on the explosive, unbeaten Cincinnati Bengals.

One of the biggest problems for Minnesota has been the lack of a wide receiver to take over for the departed John Gilliam. On the other hand, Cincinnati is loaded in that area with veterans Chip Meyers, Isaac Curtis and first-round draft choice Billy Brooks.

"Curtis and Brooks will be pretty hard to stop," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant. "They are two of the best receivers in the league on one team."

Grant is also concerned about his own secondary because of injuries to regulars Bobby Bryant and Nate Wright and top backup Autry Beamon.

Cincinnati will be shooting for its fourth victory and third against a National Football Conference Central Division team. The Bengals have already whipped Green Bay and Detroit in addition to the Buffalo Bills.

Saturday night's schedule lists Miami at Tampa Bay, New England at Atlanta, Washington at Kansas City, Detroit against Dallas at Memphis, St. Louis at Chicago, the New York Jets at Houston, Los Angeles at Oakland, Seattle at Denver and San Francisco against San Diego at Honolulu.

Cincinnati is at Minnesota for a Sunday afternoon game, while Cleveland at Philadelphia closes out the weekend action Monday night.

New Orleans, following an opening loss to Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh, has beaten Houston and Buffalo in its last two starts. New Coach Hank Stram is anxious to instill a winning spirit in the Saints, 2-12 last season.

"It's important for a young team like ours to relate to a winning experience," Stram said. "We must establish a feeling of confidence now that will carry over into the regular season."

Reds beat Bristol's strategy

Braves do 'the Lum shift'

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves pulled one out of left field against the Cincinnati Reds. "I've seen the Willie McCovey shift and the Henry Aaron shift, but never bringing an outfielder in to play the infield," said Mike Lum, shaking his head.

The "Mike Lum Shift" installed by Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol Thursday night brought left fielder Tom Paciorek in to play the infield, giving the Braves three fielders on the right side.

Lum, who doesn't consider himself a pull hitter, was baffled by the move — but obviously not shaken by it. He smashed a single through the dramatic overshift into right field to score the winning run in the Reds' 3-2, 11-inning victory.

"That's a Gene Mauch play all the way, no ifs, ands or buts," noted Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

He added: "If you're going to pull in outfielders, though, you just as well should bring them all in. But you know what it really is in that situation? You pray. That's the best play — you pray. At that point, it is how do I want my poison."

The Reds had men on second and third at the time with Lum in a pinch-hitter's role and the dangerous Pete Rose on deck.

"I pitched to Lum," pointed out Bristol, "because Rose with 2,700 lifetime hits is not going to beat me."

Pedro Borbon, the third Reds' pitcher, boosted his record to 3-2 while Adrian Devine absorbed the defeat, dropping his record to 2-4.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh blanked San Francisco 1-0; Philadelphia beat Houston 7-1 and Los Angeles nipped the New York Mets 6-5.

Pat Zachry injured slightly in scuffle

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rookie pitcher Pat Zachry of the Cincinnati Reds suffered a minor cut on his nose when a fan hit him in the face following Thursday night's game with the Atlanta Braves.

A Reds spokesman said Zachry was hit during a scuffle on the way to his car. Witnesses said the altercation broke out over a request for an autograph.

Zachry, whose 11-4 record is best among Cincinnati starters, was involved in a no-decision in the game, going seven innings and allowing two runs. The Reds won it 3-2 in 11 innings.

He was not taken to a hospital. No arrest was made, Reds officials said.

Pittsburgh doctor wins trapshoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — After winning the Preliminary Handicap at the 77th annual Grand American trapshooting tournament Thursday, Dr. Michael Hynes, 31, of Pittsburgh, said, "I'm very lucky. I don't even know what is happening."

Hynes, a surgical resident at the University of Pittsburgh Hospital who has been shooting for just three years, admitted he's had a streak of luck this week.

"I never had 100 straight until Sunday, then I had another 100 on Monday and 200 straight on Wednesday. Then today I had this 99. The best score I ever had before that was a 93."

Topall Adios winner of Latonia feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Topall Adios won the $800 featured pace mile by a nose in a photo finish at Latonia on Thursday night and paid $24.60, $14.60 and $6.20.

Byrd Car Lith placed, $6.60 and $6 and Fleet Chief, third, $4.

Bulldog Mack and Ritas Fooler combined 8-3 for $35.80 in the daily double and the crowd of 1,613 bet $97,628.

and scored the game's only run as Pittsburgh beat San Francisco. The shutout was the third of the season for Candelaria, 12-4, with two coming against the Giants. He hurled a two-hit victory at Candlestick Park on April 25.

Phillies 7, Astros 1
Steve Carlton pitched a five-hitter for his fifth straight victory and Mike Schmidt belted his 32nd home run as Philadelphia beat Houston. Carlton, 15-4, struck out six and walked two in earning his 10th triumph in his last 11 decisions.

The Phillies rattled Houston starter Joaquin Andujar and relievers Bo McLaughlin and Joe Sambito for 17 hits, including four hits for Jay Johnstone that boosted the outfielder's average to a league-leading .344. He had his fourth home run, 30th double and two singles.

Dodgers 6, Mets 5
Steve Garvey blasted a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning and Ron Cey followed with a game-winning solo shot as Los Angeles rallied for a comeback victory over New York.

Trailing 5-2 entering the ninth, Ted Sizemore and Bill Buckner led off the inning with singles, and Garvey followed with his eighth home run to tie the score. Bob Apodaca replaced Skip Lockwood, and Cey followed with his 20th homer to give the Dodgers their fourth straight victory.

Twins Campbell preserves win

Orioles served pea soup

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles suffered another dose of indigestion Thursday after sampling the peas served up by Bill "Soupy" Campbell.

"When Campbell's throwing like he was for those couple of innings, he's not throwing peas, he's throwing split peas," Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch said after the bullpen ace preserved the Twins' 5-4 victory over the Orioles.

Campbell entered the game with two on and two out in the seventh inning. He retired Tony Muser on a grounder and then set down the final six batters, striking out three and earning his 15th save to go with 12 relief wins, five short of the American League record.

In other AL action, Milwaukee turned back Kansas City 6-4, Cleveland out-slugged Texas 7-5, Detroit edged California 5-4 and the Chicago White Sox downed Boston 4-2. New York and Oakland were not scheduled.

The Twins came from behind twice, wiping out a 2-0 deficit in the fifth and then getting three in the bottom of the sixth after the Orioles scored twice in the top half. Although Dave Pagan was charged with the loss, Tippy Martinez walked Lyman Bostock with the bases loaded to force in the winning run and drop the Orioles 11 games behind the idle Yankees in the AL East.

At the first sign of trouble in the seventh, Mauch wig-wagged for Campbell.

"There's no way I'm going to let this one get by us," he said, even though starter Bill Singer insisted he was still strong. "We've just got so far behind we've got times recently, and when we've got a chance I'm not going to let it slip by."

"I kept telling him I felt good," Singer said, "but it didn't do any good and I guess it worked out."

Brewers 6, Royals 4

Gorman Thomas belted a three-run homer in the second inning and triples by Von Joshua and George Scott keyed Milwaukee's two-run fifth. Joshua tripled leading off the fifth and scored on a sacrifice fly by Robin Yount as the Brewers broke a 3-3 tie against Dennis Leonard. Scott followed with a triple and scored on second baseman Frank White's wild relay to third.

The setback sliced Kansas City's lead over Oakland in the AL West to 7½ games.

NFL cutdown crunch coming

NEW YORK (AP) — The crunch and the groan are still to be heard in hallways around the National Football League.

"Down to the crunch" is how NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle describes hard-nosed, latenight, eyeball-to-eyeball talks among the owners of the 28 clubs when it comes time to set policy.

One policy still to be decided is just how many players will be permitted on each team's roster during the regular season.

And when it's decided, it'll be groan time as players in the various camps find themselves out of jobs.

Just how many will be groaning may not be known for another 10 days or so. Representatives of the club owners met Thursday, ostensibly to decide the regular-season roster size. But when they were told that an even stickier situation — the long-standing contract dispute with the players' union — might be nearing settlement, they decided to pass.

Instead, they limited themselves to the next preseason cut. By Tuesday, the 26 established teams have to be down to 49 players plus the late arrivals from the College All-Star Game. Tampa Bay and Seattle, the expansion entries for the 1976 season, will remain at the current limit of 60, plus all-stars.

"Negotiators for the NFL players and owners have progressed to a point where they believe a vote by their memberships on a collective bargaining agreement is a possibility prior to the start of the regular season," Rozelle said, explaining why the clubs deferred on a regular-season roster limit. Such a limit would be a part of that agreement.

Jerry West to coach L.A. Lakers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Kent Cooke ended his feud with Jerry West, hired the all-star basketball player to coach his Los Angeles Lakers and now undoubtedly will demand a championship team.

West had filed a $6-million suit against Cooke claiming the owner hadn't lived up to his last playing contract two years ago.

Cooke had filed a $2-million countersuit claiming West hadn't lived up to what was expected from him, but in an amicable news conference, the 39-year-old former star guard said, "My differences with Mr. Cooke are settled. I'm extremely pleased with the terms of the contract."

Those terms were not divulged but reports were that Jerry Tarkanian of Nevada-Las Vegas had been offered a five-year, $350,000 contract to coach the Lakers. West's pact couldn't be less.

Called "Mr. Clutch" and "Zeke from Cabin Creek" in reference to his West Virginia background, West joined the Lakers in 1960 when they moved from Minneapolis to Los Angeles. On 13 occasions, he was the National Basketball Association's all-star guard.

Admitting he'll be under pressure, West said, "I haven't seen the player yet who didn't think he's smarter than the coach."

Sam shows stuff in Hartford golf

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Pro golf's nostalgia buffs were in their glory.

There was Sam Snead, that 64-year-old relic from the days of the hickory shafts, one-putting nine times from his sidesaddle stance and happily chortling: "If I could keep this up, they might be able to coax me back to the tour."

Snead, with his trademark, a brightly-banded Panama straw hat firmly in place, converted his best putting round in years into a 68. That was just three strokes off the pace of Rik Massengale, whose six-under-par 65 was all but overshadowed by the heroics of another generation of golfing greats Thursday in the first round of the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open.

The large group with Snead and Palmer at 68 included Lee Trevino, Homero Blancas, Jim Colbert, Mac McLendon, Tom Jenkins, Jim Wiechers, Bobby Wadkins and Dave Lind.

Blood Vessel and Heart Surgery

When an artery is clogged and surgery is necessary to reopen it, how is it performed? It is a mystery to me. — Miss Y.B., Ohio

Dear Miss B.: Even sophisticated physicians are overwhelmed by the mystery of modern-day surgery performed on the blood vessels and the heart.

Sometimes a portion of the blood vessel is removed and replaced with a Dacron or Teflon "sleeve." In other cases, a part of a vein, usually the saphenous vein in the leg, is removed and used to bypass the blocked artery.

There are also techniques by which an artery can be opened and the blocked portion reamed out so that the clogging plaque is removed.

The same type of surgery is used in the heart bypass operation so commonly employed in people who have coronary artery disease.

This surgery is a tribute to the research surgeons who, in combination with engineers and chemists, have made these advances possible.

My feet become swollen as the day progresses. At night I can push the skin in almost a half inch. In the morning the swelling is gone. — Mr. R.W., Kan.

Dear Mr. W.: The swelling you describe is known as "pitting edema."

This may be caused by simple or by complicated conditions. Varicose veins or marked overweight (especially in people who stand on their feet all day) can cause this type of swelling.

It is also true that people with chronic heart disease, kidney disease, and vascular problems may have swelling. Consequently it is important for you to rule out all the reasons to be certain that an important one is not being overlooked.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: A job given to the handicapped person can be just as gratifying to the employer as it can be to the employee.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers. Please write to him in care of this newspaper.

Test Your Dummy Play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Seven Diamonds and North leads the jack of hearts. How would you play the hand?

♠ A ♠ KQ1098
♥ — ♥ AQ82
♦ AKQJ10987 ♦ —
♣ AK108 ♣ J943

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump and North leads the three of spades. How would you play the hand?

♠ A8 ♠ K4
♥ A962 ♥ 853
♦ K ♦ AQ97642
♣ AJ10987 ♣ 2

1. Win the heart with the ace and discard the ace of spades on it! Then play the K-Q of spades, planning to discard two clubs. There is a 93 per cent probability of finding the spades divided either 4-3 or 5-2, which is all you need for this method of play to succeed.

It would be wrong to play the ace of hearts at trick one, discarding a club, and then rely on a successful club finesse or the hope that cashing the A-K of clubs later on will catch the queen. At best, this would give you about a 50 per cent chance for the contract.

2. It would be wrong to win the spade lead with the ace, cash the king of diamonds, then cross to dummy's king of spades in the hope of finding the missing diamonds divided 3-2. This would amount to staking the outcome on a favorable diamond division. True, the diamonds are likely to be divided 3-2, but you shouldn't willingly put all your eggs in this one basket.

A better method of play is to take the ace of spades, lead the king of diamonds, and overtake it in dummy with the ace! Then cash the queen of diamonds to see whether both defenders follow suit. If they do, play a third diamond, thus assuring ten tricks (two spades, a heart, six diamonds and a club).

If the diamonds turn out to be divided 4-1, lead a club from dummy at trick four, planning to finesse if South follows low. This gives you a chance to establish the club suit and make four notrump if South has any of the following club holdings: the singleton king or queen; a doubleton K-Q, K-x or Q-x; any tripleton K-Q-x; or all four missing low clubs.

Testing program wins court OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A court referee has concluded that the Department of Administrative Services may require certain testing of persons applying for jobs in the auditor's office.

The Franklin County Common Plea Court referee recommended earlier this week to Judge Fred J. Shoemaker that he grant a directed verdict in favor of Administrative Services Director Richard Krabach in a suit filed against him by Auditor Thomas Ferguson.

Ferguson filed suit in an attempt to stop Krabach's office from administering tests for positions in the auditor's office. Tests were given last September but the results were delayed pending court action.

Attorneys for both sides have two weeks to dispute the referee's recommendation.

John A. Bingham, 1815-1900, a native of Cadiz, Ohio, congressman and later minister to Japan, played important roles in the prosecution of the assassins of President Lincoln as well as the impeachment of President Johnson.

Woman preacher stirs church fuss

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Archbishop John F. Whealon was in error when he gave Sister Kathleen Cannon the right to become the first woman preacher in the history of the Roman Catholic Church, a spokesman for the Hartford archdiocese said Thursday.

The Rev. Edmund S. Nadolny said the archbishop did not have the authority for such action. He said the Vatican is trying to determine now whether persons other than priests and deacons can be given the "faculties" to preach.

"He gave her the impression a year ago... We see now we have no right to give anyone else the right, the permission, to preach in the strict sense," Father Nadolny said.

Sister Kathleen, 34, is chaplain at Albertus Magnus College in New Haven.

Asked how such a misunderstanding could arise, Father Nadolny said, "He's human, that's all I can say."

Earlier this week, the New Haven Register quoted Archbishop Whealon, who is chairman of the committee on theology of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, as saying: "I am the first bishop in the church's history to give the faculties of the diocese to a woman."

Father Nadolny said the archbishop was not contacted by a higher church official but reached the conclusion he was in error by himself after the news reports.

"I'm confused now," Sister Kathleen said Thursday after Father Nadolny read her the archdiocese statement. "I'm going to call the archbishop and have a meeting as soon as I come back." She was at a conference in Columbus, Ohio.

The Catholic Church does not permit ordination of women as priests. Women have been permitted to fill various liturgical positions, such as lectors, readers and song leaders, and they also have preached occasionally, but without the official title or sanction of the bishop.

Sister Kathleen preached her first sermon at a World Day of Prayer for Christian Unity in West Hartford, Conn., in January 1975.

Father Nadolny said she has the right to say Mass under certain specific conditions at Albertus Magnus, such as when a visiting priest cannot speak English. But she does not have the right to preach in the Hartford archdiocese, which includes New Haven, Hartford and Litchfield counties.

"I'm not clear on the specific permission she got. She does not have general permission to go around the archdiocese to preach," he said.

Deputies check reported theft

Fayette County sheriff's deputies received a report of a lawnmower and charcoal broiler theft.

Paul Holyer, 54, of 9241 U.S. 35-NW, told sheriff's deputies that the mower, valued at $175, and a $49.95 charcoal broiler were removed from his residence sometime between Tuesday and Thursday.

'On aging' series will continue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Commission on Aging signed a contract Friday with the telecommunications center at Ohio State University for production of a third season of "On Aging."

"On Aging", a weekly news and documentary program for older Ohioans, will be carried by 12 member stations of the Educational Television Network, a commission spokesman said.

New furniture store has official opening

A new furniture store opened Friday in Washington C.H., as members of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce assisted in ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

Birch Rice and his wife Jeanie, 725 Fairway Drive, formally opened the Birch Rice Home Furnishings store, located at 305 W. Market Street, just west of the railroad tracks.

The store is a converted warehouse, newly painted and recently modeled in a colonial theme.

Rice was associated with the G.M. Rice Furniture Co. store in Wilmington, a family business, for 17 years. The Rice family has been in the furniture business at the Wilmington location since 1909. Recently, Rice and his brother, George, conducted furniture operations there.

Rice left the store in early April to finalize plans for the opening of a similar store in Washington C.H.

Both Rice and his wife have also purchased the building currently occupied by the Montgomery Ward Co. Within a few years, the Rices plan to move the furniture store to that address.

The Rices plan to operate the retail store by carrying quality furniture at low prices due to the low overhead expenses of the operation.

Reformatory closure call 'cheap shot'

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory says a report from Ohio's 17 Roman Catholic bishops calling for the closing of the 80-year-old reformatory is "a cheap shot."

The bishops, some of whom toured the facility last May, said Thursday they found that inmates are treated "in a manner which is profoundly inhumane and degrading."

They recommended immediate reduction in the use of the reformatory "and for its complete closing with deliberate speed."

The report from the bishops suggested some options, including changing the laws to provide fines and restitution as a preferred method for dealing with crimes against property, reducing time for nonviolent offenses—which they said constituted 70 per cent of the state's prison sentences last year—and increased use of probation for nonviolent offenses.

Members of the bishops' task force said in their report that most of the prisoners were kept in cells from 12 to 15 hours a day, providing little opportunity for rehabilitation.

They said the facilities were so poor that there was little likelihood they could be improved sufficiently to offer adequate guarantees for decency, dignity and safety of prisoners.

Superintendent Frank Gray said most of the report was "invalid, distorted and misconstrued" and suggested that the bishops should ask the courts to stop sending so many persons to prison.

"They say there is no rehabilitation because of overcrowding," the superintendent said. "This is just patently untrue. We are very proud of our rehabilitation program. It's one of the best in the state."

Investigated by police

Slight damage results in two auto mishaps

Two accidents involving slight damage to the vehicles in each mishap were investigated Thursday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Charles F. Milstead, 52, of 140 Eastview Drive, told Washington C.H. police officers that as he was westbound on Court Street, he saw a car change lanes in front of him, was unable to stop in time, and struck and slightly damaged the car.

The second car was driven by Donald L. Workman, 27, of Williamsport, and it had also been westbound on Court Street when the 3:27 p.m. Thursday accident occurred just east of North Street.

Pauline A. McClish, 38, of U.S. 22-E, was charged by police officers with backing without safety following a 1:17 p.m. Thursday mishap.

Ms. McClish said she was northbound on Hinde Street in the process of backing her car, when she failed to see a car driven by Cheryle A. Lininger, 17, of Meadow Drive, which was approaching on Hinde Street.

As a result of the collision, the Lininger car was moderately damaged and Ms. McClish's car was slightly damaged, police officers reported. The accident occurred just south of W. Court Street.

Arrests
